Yes, I want to do the things
I used to do without pain and fear

Stop wondering whether the joint supplement you are taking actually helps or if it's just in your head. Stop treating yourself like a joint supplement guinea pig.

Flexenol 5X works because it is based on studies that support the effectiveness of each Flexenol 5X ingredient in fighting pain, rebuilding joints and/or improving mobility. Flexenol 5X has been specially formulated to relieve arthritis and joint problems. Flexenol 5X's healing power:

- ✓ Relieves pain
- ✓ Combats inflammation

- ✓ Reduces slackness
- ✓ Improves freedom of movement

Here's what a recent convert to Flexenol 5X had to say about this new one-a-day joint care & pain relief supplement:

“I am a runner and have been for most of my life. However, age has caught up with me and I am feeling pain and pressure in my joint areas. I’ve been searching for a good quality joint supplement for over 10 years and believe I have found it with Flexenol. It is safe, natural, and effective so I recommend it highly. My joints do not hurt before, after, or during my workouts. They feel cushioned and I do not have any pain whatsoever”.—Felicia H. Brannen, Salinas, CA

Arthritis and joint problems limit

activity more often than heart disease, cancer or diabetes

We've come a long way since 1872 when aspirin became the first drug that was used to treat joint pain and inflammation. But prescription drugs (leave alone run-of-the-mill joint supplements) don't always do what you expect them to do. And they don't work for everyone. Organ damage, abdominal pain, inflammation of the stomach and other side effects of using strong pain killers & anti-inflammatory drugs is another problem.

If you've tried everything but have almost given up, how about finally trying something that really works? Flexenol 5X is formulated to help you use your hands and feet the way they were designed to be used—without fear and without pain.

Flexenol 5X works on the Big 2 joints

Flexenol 5X benefits cartilaginous as well as synovial joints. Cartilaginous joints are connected entirely by cartilage. Synovial joints are the body's free-moving joints.

Osteoarthritis (OA) attacks cartilaginous joints and breaks down cartilage, which acts as a cushion for your joints. The deterioration of cartilage causes bone to rub against bone, soreness, stiffness, joint immobility and pain. Aging, overweight/obesity, joint injury, weak thigh muscles, joint overuse and genetics can all cause OA. More than 25 million Americans have OA, which has no cure and usually attacks joints in the hand, neck, lower back, knee and hip.

Flexenol 5X helps slow OA, while relieving pain by blocking pain signals and improving joint function.

“Arthritis in the knees runs in my family so it was inevitable that I would also suffer from the problem. It began at night. Anytime I'd wake up and get out of bed, I'd hardly be able to stand. Then, it progressed to having pain every time I would walk. I contacted my doctor and after a series of xrays and tests, they confirmed I had arthritis. Of course, the doctors suggested physical therapy and prescription medications but I decided to treat on my own after a family member suggested Flexenol. I began taking the supplement, exercising, and walking regularly. The pain lessened after about 4 weeks but now, I am completely pain free. I highly recommend Flexenol. It truly has worked for me.”—Thomas L. Wilson, New York, NY

Pain, morning stiffness, fatigue, inflammation of the wrist & hand joints and swollen, reddish joints warm to the touch are the main symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis (RA). An immune disorder that afflicts about 1.5 million Americans—mostly women—RA has no cure.

Flexenol 5X not only helps relieve RA symptoms, it also reduces the sudden flare ups of RA symptoms and illness.

The science behind Flexenol 5X

Why does Flexenol 5X work as well as it does? Because it has 11 joint-benefiting ingredients proven to fight joint pain, rebuild joints and improve joint mobility.

#1. Glucosamine Sulfate: An Australian clinical trial involving 38 people with knee osteoarthritis found glucosamine sulfate is effective in reducing symptoms. The same trial also found it even decreases gut inflammation and benefits gastrointestinal health.

The “sulfate” part of glucosamine sulfate is required by the body to produce cartilage. Other supplements may contain glucosamine hydrochloride, which does not provide the same benefit—see comparison table below.

#2. Chondroitin Sulfate: A Swiss clinical trial involving 162 people with hand osteoarthritis confirmed chondroitin sulfate reduces pain and improves hand function.

#3. Shark Cartilage: Shark cartilage contains both glucosamine sulfate and chondroitin sulfate. A Brazilian study found shark cartilage has both pain-killing and anti-inflammatory properties.

#4. New Zealand Green-Lipped Mussel: Several studies and trials from as far back as 1950 support the use of New Zealand green-lipped mussel in managing mild to moderate osteoarthritis, and combating inflammation & pain linked to both osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis.

#5. Methylsulfonylmethane (MSM): An Indian study involving 118 people with osteoarthritis of the knee showed MSM is effective in reducing pain as well as swelling—more so when taken along with glucosamine sulfate.

#6. L-Histidine: This amino acid is deficient in the blood and synovial fluid (joint lubricant) of people with rheumatoid arthritis (RA).

#7. Boron: Boron is an essential nutrient for healthy bones and joints. A clinical trial found 50% of subjects who were given boron reported reduced pain and discomfort linked to their osteoarthritis.

#8. Alfalfa: Many nutrients, including vitamins D2 & D3 and calcium, have been found in alfalfa. A decoction made from alfalfa leaves is used as a folk remedy in many parts of the world to treat specifically symptoms linked to osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis.

#9. Yucca: Parts of the yucca plant have been used for centuries in traditional Native American medicine. One study supported the use of the yucca in relieving joint pain. Laboratory results indicate yucca has anti-inflammatory properties. Yucca contains some of the same health-benefiting ingredients found in red wine.

#10. Devil's Claw: According to a University of Southampton, UK, research project devil's claw 'appeared effective in the reduction of the main clinical symptom of [osteoarthritis] pain'.

#11. Cetyl Myristoleate: Cetyl myristoleate is a joint lubricant and anti-inflammatory agent. A clinical trial proved it can even be beneficial to a majority of those arthritis sufferers who have found no relief from using nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs. It also helps keep your immune system in good health and is effective against immunity disorders, including rheumatoid arthritis.

Flexenol 5X also has several vitamins and trace minerals, and contains 50% DV or more of vitamins B1, B2, B6 & B12. Flexenol 5X is made in the USA in a GMP-certified facility. It is non-addictive, 100% natural and safe for use by people suffering arthritis/joint problems.

“Several online sites rated Flexenol as one of the best joint supplements out there so I decided to give it a try. The combination of natural and manmade ingredients offer a safe and effective product. After 2 weeks of use, I have felt considerably better and free of joint pain. Not only is it helping with my pain, but it has improved my overall mood, too. I’m going to keep taking Flexenol to see how it helps after a month or so.

“Update:

Ok, so I have been taking Flexenol for a few months now and wanted to give an updated review. I had chronic pain in my knee and shoulder for many years. Today, I am painfree with the use of Flexenol. I may have a bit of soreness after a jog but believe that is natural. The soreness is nothing compared to the pain I would have doing basic chores around the house. Now, I can jog, workout, and play sports without any pain. I have tried many supplements but Flexenol is the best.”—Joseph K. Egan (Upper Muddy, NV)

Flexenol 5X puts you back in control

Enjoy and play with the grandkid. Garden. Dance. Walk. Hike. Jog. Climb up and down stairs. Sit. Kneel. Grip. Bend. Sleep. And do many of the same things others take for granted. “I’m a 38 year old who tore his ACL, MCL, and medial meniscus late in 2011. I have had 2 knee surgeries and have dealt with a lot of pain and discomfort the last few years. My ACL was reconstructed but my MCL and medial meniscus was left to heal. After surgery, I took a supplement to help with my recovery but after a few weeks of physical therapy, I began hearing and feeling strange things in my knee area. Doctors said the feeling and sound was normal since I was mobile and free of pain. However, after a sport’s injury, my medial meniscus tore again. After surgery, doctors said they could not repair it even though they did remove a center part of the area. I began taking Flexenol to help with my recovery. The crunching sound was gone and I felt almost back to normal. However, after a few weeks of use and proper physical therapy, I am definitely seeing a major improvement. Although I am careful, I am again able to play the sports I love. Flexenol is a great supplement and the price is affordable so it should be tried.”—Robert D. Lawyer, San Francisco, CA

Real people. Real Flexenol 5X results.

"I can't believe how well the Flexenol product has worked for the pain in my SI joint. I've been suffering with this chronic pain for over a year but after only a few weeks on Flexenol, I've noticed a major improvement. I take about 3 pills a day and am easily able to complete tasks and chores that I wasn't able to months ago. There are no adverse reactions or major side effects so I am getting ready to continue taking with an order of another 3 month supply. I definitely suggest others try Flexenol."—Carl K. Reid, Lombard, IL

"My sister in law suggested Flexenol after using it after having surgery on her meniscus. I decided to try it after having some pain in my joints when I run and exercise. I'm taking 3 pills a day with a meal and it is really helping with my training (I'm in the Army)."—Edward K. Caley, Midland, TX

"Although I have used many different joint supplements, after reading a review online I decided to give Flexenol a try. I'm glad I did because this product works incredibly well and much better than others on the market. The capsule form offers an efficient means of supplement. I am very active. From bowling to walking and exercising, Flexenol offers me a lifestyle free of joint pain."—William K. King, Newark, NJ

"My fiancé was in the military and suffered from a few different injuries. After complaining of his joint pain, we both decided to try Flexenol. After only 90 days of use, we are both seeing enormous improvements. My fiancé does not have the aches and pains he would often wake up with. We are both very active again and not having any discomfort. We are looking forward to using Flexenol for many years."—Felicia D. Colmenero, Gilbert, AZ

"I was using a different supplement for 3 months but began to have issues with money. So, I decided to look for similar products that were more affordable but effective, too. I ordered 3 bottles of Flexenol because it had great reviews and a good price. I am shocked by the benefits it offers. Not only does it help with joint pain, it is also better than other products on the market. There is no reason to not try Flexenol."—Frank J. Alvarez, West Los Angeles, CA
